

Anti-smoking initiatives

We want to help everyone quit

CVS Health has dedicated significant resources to an array of anti-smoking initiatives to help everyone on the path to better health.

We're helping create the nation's first tobacco-free generation

Be The First is our $50 million program aimed at helping youngsters and students avoid tobacco. It combines anti-smoking education, tobacco control advocacy and healthy behavior programs as part of our $100 million Building Healthier Communities initiative. An additional $10 million program sends clinicians into classrooms and communities to teach young people about the risks of e-cigarette use.
